But which was burned out in the recent fire, repaired, remodeled, and fitted up in the best manner, with all the modern instruments and appliances for the performance of all kinds of operations in Dentistry, begs leave to inform his old friends and patrons, and the public generally, that he is at home again in the same old spot, where he would be happy to see them and wait upon them with anything wanted in the Dentistry line.

He would call special attention to his new apparatus for generating Nitrous Oxide Gas, Sprague's Patent,—the only generator that makes a pure and tasteless gas, and the only one of the kind ever in this city.

He continues also his specialty of administering ether spray, which is fast taking the place of the old method of inhalation, being entirely safe to the most delicate persons.

Please give him a call at his new rooms.

PURE TEAS.

Just Received

FROM JAPAN AND CHINA,

—BY THE—

Mutual Store Company,

No. 22 & 24 Central Street.

Large invoices of fresh and very elegant flavored New Teas, imported by the most direct route, and selected by an American agent of the highest integrity and undoubted skill, sent out to China expressly to guard against, and if possible, protect the American consumers, of this delicious plant from the persistent and consummate frauds practiced by the Chinaman, in curing and packing Teas for the American Market. And this wonderfully has he succeeded in preventing and exposing John Chinaman's rascality, as one trial of our Teas will well attest, prices lower than can be found elsewhere in New England.

ALSO,

PURE COFFEES,

of the choicest grades, imported expressly for the "Mutual Store Co." from "Mocha," "Java," "Ceylon," "Rio," and "Porto Cabello," and can be sold for one profit only, which brings our Coffee lower in price than can be found at any other Store in the Country.

Our Roasted Coffee

is all prepared by an American House of long standing, and whose reputation for honesty and determined integrity, is above all reproach, or suspicion, and are not allowed to pass through the hands of the Chinamen, where they would be sure to receive the villainous adulteration. Sure to suit. Try them. Our are already well known in this community, and are well appreciated. N. C.

We have also a very large and carefully selected Stocks of all kinds of goods entering into the stock of first class Grocery Store, and customer at our Store can buy not only Tea, Coffee, Spices, Saleratus, and a few such articles, but also, Molasses of all grades, Syrups, Pork and Lard, Kerosene Oil, Flour, Meat, Butter, Eggs, and all kinds of country produce, everything in the Wooden Ware line, from a ten cent Basket to a Clothes Horse, also, English fish, English Pickles, English Mustards, English Sauce for your fresh meat, Sardines, Lobsters, and Oysters in cans. Tomatoes in cans, and very cheap, all kinds of canned fruit; Jellies in Tumblers, a large stock of Raspberry Shrub, just the thing now wanted (except from Wingate,) Burnett's, Knights', Lewis', and other flavoring extracts, Preston's Cocoas, and finally everything pertaining to a real and sold at prices that defy competition.

First Class Grocery Store,

Our clerks are all real Yankees, and will be found at all times ready and willing to attend politely to all who may favor us, with a call, and speaking of that, the proprietor himself is not slow.

LET CONGRESS BE ASKED TO PASS THE following laws, by all who love themselves:—If any Spirit shall take possession of any persons' body and instigate them to, or themselves use said body, to pollute it either by committing the crime of self-pollution, it being the worshipping of the abomination that maketh desolate, spoken of by the Spirit of the Lord to Daniel the Prophet, 11th Chap. and 31st verse, and 12th Chap. and 11th verse; and by Christ, the Son of God, Matthew 24th chap. and 15th verse; or shall use such body to lie or kill, they being the worship of the Devil, as Christ said he was a murderer and liar from the beginning. Or shall use such body to commit adultery or fornication, they being the worship of the Beast, Revelations, 13 Chap. and 1st and 2d verses—to do as beasts do is to worship a beast—or shall do any manner of evil, or shall interfere or stop any man or woman buying or selling because he has not the mark of the Beast Revelations, 13th Chap., 16th and 17th verses. That it shall be perfectly satisfactory for second death or the Son of Man to take away or kill said Spirit if found in the jurisdiction of the United States, and that too without remedy. And to discuss shall be accepted, especially that they did it to give employment to Priests at the Confessional, or to Lawyers at the bar, or to enslave any one. Or if any such Spirit shall make any one sick, or cause accident to give any one employment to so-called doctors, second death may take him, or her, or it, away, and that too without remedy; or the Son of Man the same. And, farther, in view of the war now raging in Europe, caused by the crimes of those who have passed unpunished, I would farther ask that Truth be declared the God of the land, and the worship of Truth be inaugurated by all telling the Truth at all times, or keeping silent. And for all that are coming to the Spirit World to come prepared for the battle, Revelations 15th Chap. and 14th verse, and Revelations 19 Chap. and 19 verse. You each for yourselves will find full instructions, Matthew 5th Chap. and 23d, 24th and 25th verses, how to prepare. ONE.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

The attention of the public is respectfully called to the popular

Photograph Gallery,

Corner of Main Street and West Market Square,

Where can be obtained any and all of the Different Styles of Solar Pictures!

The operating department will be under the sole charge of

MR. JOHN A. HEARD, of Boston,

Whose experience and success in the most popular rooms in Boston for the past twenty years, entitle him to the confidence and patronage of the citizens of Bangor.

All the new styles of Photographs, and the ever desirable Porcelains, the gem of all pictures, which Mr. Heard has made a specialty for the past five years, are now being executed with a degree of beauty and excellence never before attained in this city. We also have a process for burnishing Card Photographs superior to any other now in use, giving a brilliancy and effect obtained in no other way, as may be seen by examining our specimens.

Ladies' and Gentlemen

Who consider themselves hard subjects, who "never can get a good Picture," are especially invited to call at our rooms, as we are now able to remove all imperfections of the skin such as freckles, &c., rendering the picture perfectly fair and clear.

Hoping that our efforts to make this the most popular Gallery in the state, in the future as it has been in the past, will be appreciated, we would respectfully return our thanks to the public for past patronage, and hope for a continuance of the same, only by employing the very best talent the Country affords. Call on us. We shall always meet you with pleasure, whether we succeed in suiting you or not.

LETTER FROM TEXAS.

GALVESTON, Texas,
Nov. 24th, 1870

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier

Home! and Thanksgiving! Immediately subsequent to the date of my last letter, written at Hempstead, was a cold spell of weather which in Texas dialect is called a "Norther." These occurrences, which constitute the only cold season we have here, are generally characterized by the prevalence of a cold north wind, which usually makes its advent when least expected, and almost always in the midst of our very warmest winter weather. They frequently come upon us very suddenly, often accompanied by rain, and sometimes the temperature is low enough to freeze. Northers are liable to prevail any time between October and April, and sometimes as often as once a week, but usually not more than one in two weeks, while I have known a whole winter to pass with less than half a dozen Northers. I have before me a record of meteorology kept by Dr. H. Stevens of Brazoria county, in the year 1868, which shows the mean temperature of that year to have been 69°; of winter 58°; of spring 72°; of summer 82°, and of fall 59°. The coldest day showed 19° and the hottest 98°.

Generally, these Northers continue about three days and reach their coldest point the second night, when we usually expect a light or heavy frost, according to the severity of the Norther. On the night of the 14th, while I was at Hempstead, a Norther set in and there was frost two succeeding nights; and as frost is considered death to the last breath of yellow fever infection, I set my carpet-bag in order for a return to Galveston, and after waiting one day longer and sitting up all night for a train, the next night found me in Galveston, where I have opened the bag and put down the carpet for a permanency.

This is the National day of Thanksgiving, and I have just returned from hearing prayers recited at the Episcopal Church, the only one in the city which observes the day. The District, and Criminal Court, Custom House, Post Office, and banks are closed, and the railroad receives no freight; these being the only public observances here. Our hostess being a Massachusetts lady, and not hating President Grant so much as to wilfully eat fish because he will probably eat meat, is going to give us turkey, mince-pie and a full New England bill of fare, on such occasions. Four-fifths of the people at church this morning were Northern by birth. I would not assert positively whether the antipathy to these observances, among the native population here is the result of a hatred of Yankee customs, and especially Republican proclamations or of a surfeit of such proceedings during the war, when Davis used to order a day of Thanksgiving and Praise or Fast and Prayer after every battle, according as it resulted favorably or unfavorably for the armies of the *Corn-fed-*erate States.

The health of the city is now very good, and trade much revived, though the low price of cotton, under the influence of the war, and prospect of war in Europe, is causing owners of the staple who can do so, to hold, in hope of better prices, the direct effect of which is depression in trade. It has been the usual practice in all the cotton growing States of the South in consequence of the better returns from land in cotton culture than in any other crop, and especially in the few years past, when cotton has brought about double its ante bellum price, to direct every energy to the growth of cotton, and depend upon the markets of the North-West for almost their entire supplies of provision. This is less the case in Texas than in many other States, but is sufficiently so to be seriously felt by the planters, now that the war in Europe has reduced the value of cotton to a little more than one-half its price last year; while under the same war influences provisions tend upward, or, in gold broker parlance, they are required to sell short and buy long. Several experiences of this kind have been endured in past years, and the press has given much advice and indulged in long arguments to the effect that the business and general interests of the cotton growing region would be much more secure, and the planters themselves, on an average of years, better off, if they would first be sure to prepare for sufficient general produce and provisions for their own use and the supply of home markets, and turn only the surplus forces to the culture of cotton, believing that the reduced number of bales so raised would sell for enough larger price to net the planter the same as his full crop at low figures.

This is on the assumption that the supply can be made to regulate the price, and that by a concerted action they might raise half as many bales and realize the same amount of money. But the concert of action in the matter is the weak point of the argument, for while every man is willing his neighbor should plant a short crop, he will act for himself as though more cotton meant more cash.

The ardent French sympathy which has existed among Democratic Confederacy-men is beginning to give way to a feeling of peace by any means, in order to escape the evil effects the war has on our cotton interests. It is needless to say that we deplore the present prospect of a war with Russia which must involve all the important powers in Europe.

Notwithstanding this war the Germans send us occasionally a shipload of immigrants. Last week a party of five hundred young and robust German men and women arrived here and went back into the State to find homes and fortunes. It is amusing to see these people in their odd-looking dress, when shortly after arrival here they start out in groups of ten or twenty to see the city, rivaling by walking in the middle of the streets, and evincing more wonder and astonishment than a cornfield darkey the first time at election—but they make practicable, honest, and industrious citizens.

A most terrible and serious disaster, and loss, to which this city will long have a heart to mourn, was recently occasioned by the foundering at sea off Jupiter Inlet, Florida, of the steamship Varuna, on her passage from New York here, and bearing thirty-six passengers, most of whom belonged to Galveston and all of whom were lost.

Many of the lost were old citizens and leading men in business, wealth and influence in our city. Conspicuous among them for wealth, influence and character, were Messrs. Allen Lewis, Frank Hitchcock, Stephen Southwick and J. L. Briggs.

Mr. Allen Lewis was a native of China, Maine, who came here very early in the history of Texas, and had acquired a large property. So exemplary and undoubted was his character and integrity that there was hardly a business, stock, or banking corporation in Galveston with which he was not in some important manner connected.

He was a quiet, unostentatious man, but a most untiring worker. It was, a member of the Methodist Church here, which under his superintendance, and largely with his money has nearly completed the most magnificent cathedral in the State. He was partly I think to purchase the furniture for this edifice, that he had gone North, and also to visit his family who were spending the summer at London, Canada where he has a son and daughter at school.

The steamer sunk in a terrific gale on the night of the 20th Oct. No efforts were or could be made to save the passengers who were all drowned in their state rooms in the ship. Seven only of the crew got off in a boat, and two of them died before getting ashore.

Most of the passengers had been North on business or for pleasure, and were returning by water in consequence of the quarantine which blocked the approach by way of New Orleans.

Yours, H

THE PRESIDENT'S CRITICS.

"Warrington" the able correspondent of the Springfield Republican, in a recent letter to that paper, alludes to the late criticisms upon the President, as follows

Perhaps the funniest thing in the way of political criticism is the letter of President Woolsey and the Professors of Yale College, to Secretary Cox These greenhorns seem to have taken it for granted that everything they have read in relation to the late unpleasantness, from the pen of Cox and Godkin and Nordhoff and Henry Brooks Adams is true They know nothing about the case It may be true that Grant has insisted on assessing the office-holders, but there is not the slightest evidence of it, not a solitary particle except the word of certain unscrupulous journalists. And the Yale people have simply gone off at half-cock.' As for the late Secretary of the Interior, the trouble with him seems to have been, that he had not discovered that he was Secretary and Grant was President If the President cannot send word to his Secretary that he does not wish one of his understrappers in the department to sign the President's name to a patent until he has further time to consider it, without rendering himself liable to a long lecture, consisting of stale editorials from the New York Nation on civil service reform it is quite time that the relations of the President and Secretary were revised

The Milwaukee Sentinel speaks for the Northwest in denouncing the attempts to destroy confidence in the administration, and says "The brazen treason of the Chicago Tribune which happily is as imbecile as it is insolent is a sufficient disgrace to that portion of the press of the country which lies under particular obligations of honor and courtesy to criticise the administration of Grant without unfriendliness to counsel and warn it with no other feeling than respect and ability and to sustain and encourage it with unshaken firmness Government would become impossible if public opinion found no answer calmer and more just expression than the jeers and gibes and vulgar insolence of the infernal press which the Times and Tribune of Chicago no longer unequally yoked together, but as like as Belial to Beelzebub, represented in the West We invoke for President Grant's administration the direct ... in full faith that the confederacy ... under the command of the Chicago Tribune will find the mettle of the President that Leonidas and his army found that of the ... REVENUE REFORM IN A NUTSHELL

The N Y Standard publishes the following, as the best considerations that come to ... on the question of Revenue Reform

If there are any articles on the tariff list taxed so largely as to oppress the consumer to enrich the producer of similar articles in America, by destroying all competition and giving a monopoly of the market, then the tariff should be lowered or they should be admitted free.

If there is any article—salt, for instance—the consumption of which is a necessity of our existence and the tax upon which is as odious as the old window or hearth tax then it should be removed

Where the tariff bears upon the poor, and not upon the rich, it should be reduced We ... how wise it is to tax tobacco, wines and ... These are luxuries But the tax on tea and coffee is a burden and should be removed

A sentiment about tariffs and free trade may be delicate and attractive, and capable of rhetorical amplification But there are certain incontestable facts which no statesman can overlook

The first fact is that we must raise and pay one hundred millions a year to pay the interest on our national debt.

This cannot be raised by direct taxation At least Congress does not mean that it shall as it has already removed eighty millions from internal revenue So, since the people are not to raise this money at home they must raise it upon what comes from abroad

Then we have pensions to pay—a sacred, unavoidable debt not to be forgotten or put aside. And there are Congressmen and officials to be paid their honest wages duly earned with an army and a navy and ships at sea and forts and arsenals and soldiers who need good money for watching the Indians, all to be paid and paid promptly

Now if we reduce home taxes and abolish the tariffs how are we to raise money?—Clearly nothing is left but Repudiation which is political blasphemy, national suicide not to be spoken of by Christian men

Of the political imbroglio in Alabama, the Tribune says Gov Smith may have been unwise in the action which he lately took to prevent the illegally returned candidate from taking possession of the Executive office, which clearly seems, on the evidence, not to belong to him If so it was probably because he did not have the advice of the 'prominent Alabama Republicans' in Washington, who have suggested that he ought to have taken this or that step in lieu of the one he did take But however this may be, the Alabama conflict is evidently one in which it became necessary to fight the devil vigorously with fire And thus far the right seems to prevail which is a satisfaction, to say the least

Granville's reply to Gortschakoff's last note is dated Nov 20th. The British Minister says that there is nothing left for him to add to his previous appeal to the International laws He is aware that suggestions for a Congress of the Powers, to settle this and other questions, had been made, but not adopted He is also aware that in the contingency of the possession of the Principalities by Austria, Russia could question the provisions of the treaty of 1856 He is, however ignorant of such a purpose, therefore that question could not be introduced He trusted that all obstacles to a continuance of peaceful relations will be removed If Russia has formed an opinion as to her rights, but does not act without consulting other powers, the controversy is already practically closed Granville concludes by accepting Russia's invitation to the conference, without admitting the foregone conclusion as to the result

The N Y Times' Washington correspondent says that the efforts made thus far to determine who are going into the new revenue reform party coalition, for the purpose of organizing the next House, have all resulted in complete failure to find a single Republican, as yet, who is willing to be considered as ready for this job. Senators Trumbull, Schurz and Carpenter have repudiated al tendency that way, while Allison, Orth and Sargent, though not members of the next House, disavow any sympathy with such a purpose, and Logan sends word from Illinois that he is no party to any movement for the organization of the next House that is not regular Republican. So far there is yet neither form nor substance to the proposed movement.

The special of the Evening Post, the organ of the movement, says, it can be clearly and truthfully said, that but few revenue reform Republicans are ready and willing now to commit themselves to the proposed plan.

The steamer General Meade was spoken off Key West, Dec. 2d, by the pilot boat Invincible, which reported that the crew of the Mariposa had been picked up.

The bill introduced by Senator Sumner, on Monday, is intended to stop the fabrication of any more United States notes of fractional currency The Senator thinks the constant replenishing of the supply of paper is one obstacle to the return to specie payments. One section of the bill provides for strengthening the reserves of national banks, and another provides for increasing the amount of five per cent. bonds authorized by the refunding bill of last session from $200 000 000 to $500,000 000

THE NEW IDRIA MINE This mine of quicksilver, which through the McGarrahan claim has attained so much notoriety, is situated about 200 miles south of Sacramento, Cal, in a locality not remarkable for attractive scenery Indeed a recent visitor refers to it as an indescribably dreary and unpromising locality' But the quicksilver bed is almost exhaustless, the under one yielding 7 per cent. clear quicksilver The mine was first opened ten years ago, then closed through litigation until 1865, since which time it has been constantly worked employing between 200 and 300 men

THE CANADIANS ON THE MESSAGE—The Toronto (Canada) papers devote considerable space to comments upon the President's message, and are evidently somewhat exercised by its references to the Fishery disputes and the intimation that continued unfriendliness may provoke retaliation The views expressed are substantially as follows

In reference to the enforcement of the Canadian rights in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the President does not found his objections against the action of our government upon the seizure of vessels actually engaged in fishing within forbidden boundaries, but on the seizures and examinations of vessels suspected of a design to violate the regulations of the Canadian government. He states that while the Canadian act permits of such seizures and examinations, the law has not yet been put in force, and he is resolved to postpone action until an actual offence has been given Whether such seizures and examinations form a necessary part of the police duty of our Navy is a question for the government to consider We need hardly say, however that if these proceedings are necessary to the driving out of the intruders upon our waters the law ought to be enforced, whatever objections may be made by the American government The threats of retaliation which the President holds out, will not have the slightest effect in preventing the assertion of the just rights of Canada in the waters of the Gulf The number of Canadian vessels entering American ports is quite insignificant The stopping of the bonding system might cause some inconvenience to individuals in Canada, but it would enormously benefit other parts and the chief injury would fall upon American transportations lines President Grant may try these measures of coercion whenever he likes He will not cause the people of Canada to abate their claims one jot or tittle The President asserts the right of the United States to the free navigation of the St Lawrence It is hardly worth while to dispute this claim Whatever rights the American people may possess to the navigation of the river, they certainly have none to the canals along its banks. Whenever a request has been made to permit the passage of an American vessel down the river, it has always been granted, and the President cannot safely allege therefore, that the eight States on the Lake of which he makes so much have been seriously injured by the denial of his claim It is in coming up the river, we beg to inform His Excellency, that the trouble arises Perhaps he has never made a trip from Kingston to Montreal We assure him that without the use of our canals Americans would obtain wonderfully little advantage from the free navigation of the St Lawrence

ERIE IN COURT AGAIN The counsel for Henry D Raphael, Robert A Heath and others, English stockholders of the Erie Railway Co, filed an answer at the office of the Circuit Court in New York on Monday, against the complaint of James Fisk Jr, and Justin J White The answer denies the allegations made in the complaint, and charges that the election in the fall of 1867, for Directors of the Erie Co, was not accomplished by a full vote of the bona fide stockholders actuated by a desire for the benefit of the company and of the shareholders, and that it was effected by a conspiracy and combination the chief movers to which were John I Eldridge President of the Boston Hartford & Erie Railroad, James Fisk Jr, Jay Gould, and Frederick A Lane It alleges, that the latter desired to obtain control for the purpose of committing the Company to certain engagements of very large amounts in aid of the Boston Hartford & Erie line, a speculative enterprise of a very hazardous and questionable character, in which the above parties, particularly Eldridge, were largely interested The answer expresses a belief that the election was conducted to some extent by the purchase of 'proxies' for voting by the aid of $70 000 contributed by the B H & E Company It asserts that the limited ate object of the combination was effected by the using of $500,000 worth of the railroad bonds, which were put into circulation in the name of the Erie Company, and also claims that its bonds fall in value on account of the discreditable operations of the directors

PARAGUAY Advices from Asuncion, Paraguay, state that Minister Paranhos had arrived to conclude the long pending treaty of peace between the Allies and Paraguay—Flores, the instigator of the late riot in that city, had gone to Europe and the country was fast regaining order and prosperity The women have petitioned for the repeal of the law granting religious freedom

A Rio Janeiro letter of the 14th ult states that serious troubles are imminent between Brazil and Peru The latter government had seized the Brazilian gunboat Maze on the Amazon, and the Brazilian government was fitting out six iron clads to be sent thither

YOUTHFUL MURDERERS An investigation of the murder of Benjamin Howard of Westport, Mass, an old man of seventy, has led, to the arrest of Charles W. Cluff, a colored boy of 15 years, who confesses the murder and implicates John Pettis, about his own age, with aiding in the crime The officers are on the track of Pettis. After murdering the old man, the boys robbed the body of about sixty dollars, robbery being their object.

DR SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER

Having, for the last thirty five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose in winter is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes ... [illegible]

... Jacksonville, Hibernia Green Cove and many other places in various parts of Florida can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter My reasons for saying so are that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature and it is not necessary to say that where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds he is certain to die shortly therefore my advice is go well down into the State out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs ... [illegible]

For fifteen years prior to 1869 I was professionally in New York Boston Baltimore, and Philadelphia ... [illegible] Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, ... [illegible]

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected even slightly is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Schenck's Mandrake Pills and go to Florida I recommend these particular medicines because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action I know that where they are used in strict accordance with my directions they will do the work that is required ... [illegible]

My plan is to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary My object is to give tone to the stomach—to get up a good appetite It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry I have hopes of such With a relish for food and a gratification of that relish comes good blood and with it more flesh which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy and the patient gets well provided he avoids taking cold

Now there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida The question may be asked Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is My advice to such is and ever has been to stay in a warm room during the winter with a temperature of about seventy degrees which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood I have cured thousands by this system and can do so again Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease if it is taken in time and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup Mandrake Pills and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption Go where you will you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned everybody should keep a supply of them on hand They act on the liver better than calomel and leave none of its hurtful effects behind In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required If you have partaken too freely of fruit and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you If you are subject to sick headache take a dose of the Mandrakes and they will relieve you in two hours ... [illegible]

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No 15 North Sixth Street Philadelphia every Saturday from 9 A M, to 3 P M Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not But I desire it distinctly understood that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions

In conclusion, I will say that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby they are not so liable to take cold yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me and can be bought from any druggist.

NEW YORK ITEMS.

New York, Dec. 6.

The new census of this city has been indefinitely postponed.

Dr. Mines has resigned the Secretaryship of the New York Prison Association.

Capt. Samuels, of the yacht Dauntless, to-day received $5000 damages from the proprietors of the Evening Post for libel, in reporting him intoxicated.

The intended strike of the Crispins in this city is still delayed in consequence of want of concerted action among journeymen, and it is unofficially reported to-day that measures are in progress to settle the difficulty by arbitration. Several of the Prominent manufacturers have already abandoned the proposed reduction in wages, and will continue work at old prices.

Gen. Jordan was arrested at his residence last evening on charge of fitting out a Cuban expedition on the 28th of October last, and of enlisting men in aid of Cuban insurgents.—He was taken to Judge Woodruff's residence, where he gave bail in $10,000, which was renewed this morning for his appearance at the February term of U. S. Court.

Warrants are out for the arrest of a number of prominent Cuban sympatizers.

Judge Barnard to-day decided in the suit of the Erie Railroad Co. against Ramsay and others, that a charge of conspiracy could only be maintained against Messrs. Eaton & Rumble, and postponed the original suit of Ramsay against the Erie Co. until the first Monday in February.

The Court of claims during the year ending Dec 5, 1870, rendered judgement in 164 cases. The aggregate amount claimed by parties bringing suits against the United States, is about $4,900,000. The total amount of awards are $631,387. Most of the suits dismissed have been appealed to the Supreme Court. Among the awards is one of $58,000 in favor of Rottschilds Brothers, for the net proceeds of 386 hogsheads of tobacco captured by the United States military forces in Richmond, and sold by the Secretary of the Treasury. Total amount of judgements against the U. S. in suits for recovery of proceeds of captured cotton and sugar, are $26,300.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

THIRD SESSION.

Washington, Dec. 6.

SENATE.

Bills were introduced by Mr. Harlan to authorize the election of a Delegate to Congress from the Indian Territory.

By Mr. Scott to repeal so much of the act of July 14, 1870, as continues the income tax after Dec. 31, 1869.

By Mr. Fenton authorizing the Postmaster General to continue in use in the postal service a patented device for post marking and for the more effectual cancellation of postage stamps.

A resolution offered by Mr. Sherman was adopted, calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for copies of the regulations prescribed by him for the transportation of goods in bond from foreign countries and through the United States to Canada.

In order to complete informally the revision of the Standing Committees, the Senate, at 12:35 p. m., adjourned.

HOUSE.

Frank Morey of Louisiana, Wm. P. Wolf of Iowa, and Chas. H. Holmes of New York, members elected to fill vacancies, presented themselves and took the oath of office.

Mr. Hill of New Jersey, introduced a bill to repeal the income tax. Referred to the Com. on Ways and Means.

Similar bills were introduced by Messrs. Kellogg of Ct., and Myers of Pa.

The Senate bill extending for seven years the time for the construction of a railroad from St. Croix River to the west end of Lake Superior and to Bayfield, was discussed during the morning hour. The bill continues the land grant on condition that 30 miles of the road be completed by Nov. 1, 1870, and 30 miles every year thereafter. The bill was finally laid on the table by a vote of 89 to 80.

The House then refused 82 to 83, to lay on the table the motion to reconsider and postpone till Tuesday.

Among the bills introduced were the following:

By Mr. Lynch of Me., to revive the navigation and commercial interests of the United States, and remitting duties on all ship building material used for vessels in foreign trade.

By Mr. Cox of N. Y., to enable United States citizens to register foreign built vessels.

By Mr. Reeves of N. Y., admitting to registry imports of the United States, certain iron and foreign composite built vessels.

By Mr. Cannon of Texas, repealing the duty on sugar and coffee.

By Mr. Porter of Va., for the abolition of the franking privilege and to provide for the transmission of official documents and other public matter.

By Mr. Farnsworth of Ill., to authorize and promote telegraphic communication between America, Asia and Europe.

By Mr. Kellogg of Conn., for the improvement of harbor of New Haven, Conn.

Mr. Logan of Ill., asked leave to introduce and put upon its passage a bill abolishing the office of Admiral and Vice-Admiral in the Navy; the former at once and the latter when a vacancy occurs.

Mr. Hale of Me., objected, and Mr. Logan thereupon gave notice that he would move on Monday next to suspend the rules and pass the bill.

Among the resolutions adopted were those by Mr. Holdeman of Penn., instructing the Census Committee to inquire into complaints as to the accuracy of the census, and whether the reliability of the basis of representation was thereby effected.

By Mr. Buffington of Mass., calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for a report as to the suitability of a building at Fall River, Mass., to be used for Custom House, Post Office and Internal Revenue office.

By Mr. Banks of Mass., calling for the correspondence between the Navy Department and Admiral Poor, from January to June, 1870, relative to search of American vessels by Spanish authorities.

By Mr. Wilkinson of Minn., calling for information as to whether any Pacific Railroad Companies have made a default in payment of interest on their guaranteed bonds and what amount thereof has been paid by the Government.

By Mr. Eldridge of Wis., calling on the President for information as to the stationing of federal troops at Montgomery, Ala., to prevent the Governor elect from taking possession of and entering on the duties of his office, and as to the stationing of troops at other places without request of the Legislature or Executive, for the purpose of suppressing domestic violence.

By Mr. Cox of N. Y., rescinding the resolution causing a Committee on Reconstruction, and discharging that committee forever. Objected to.

The House then went into Com. of the Whole and distributed the President's message among the various committees. That portion referring to American commerce and the revival of the shipping interest, was referred to the Com. on Commerce and not to a special Com. on Navigation.

COAL MINERS' TROUBLES.

Pottsville, Pa. Dec. 6.

There is no strike among the miners in Schuylkill county, as reported. They are not only willing but anxious to have employment, which is very difficult to obtain, owing to the depressed condition of trade.

Scranton Pa., Dec. 6.

The miners in the district operated by the Delaware & Lackawanna R. R. Co., to-day resolved by vote of over 1,000 to 400 to suspend work. The Company reduced the wages at the mines 45 cents a car, and upon this the suspension is based. All the men employed at the Delaware & Hudson Canal Co's mines and Pennsylvania Co's., works are also out, but apparently not upon any definite action as in the case of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Co's. men. The latter company claims to have only 100,000 tons of coal in its yards at different points east and west, but the quantity is probably many times greater. The Scranton and other mining districts remain perfectly quiet, and no disturbances of any kind are apprehended. The supply of coal in stock by these great companies is probably sufficient to meet all demands for some months. The strike has been very deliberate and apparently determined on both sides.

TOBACCO.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 6.

The National Tobacco Association which met here to-day passed a resolution declaring it to be the duty of Congress to relieve the tobacco trade of the unjust features of the law requiring the payment of a second tax on tobacco, snuff and cigars and to refund the tax upon all such tobacco on which the tax has been twice paid. Considerable feeling was elicited in the discussion of the question and all the speakers roundly abused the Internal Revenue officials at Washington as displaying undue opposition to schemes for the relief of the tobacco and whiskey trade.—It was claimed by the President of the Association that the committee of Ways and Means and a majority of the House of Representatives were favorable to this relief. There are in attendance about 75 delegates, representing the States.

St. Thomas, Dec. 1.

Sir Charles Bright's cable expedition has arrived. They will lay a cable from here to Puerto Rico and thence to Jamaica.

San Domingo, Nov. 25.

The Province of Cibao is in arms against President Baez.

It is rumored that the pretended defeat of Cabral was, on the contrary, a victory.

Baez left the capital on the 17th for the southern portion of the Republic. He has issued a decree ordering that State warrants shall pass for their face value. Should they suffer discount they will be taken at the Treasury only for the price at which they were discounted.

Caracas, Nov. 29.

Gen. Vanancez, of the party of Vanancez, has captured Coro, after seven days's fighting. Gen. Palagoni's army was marching on Maracaibo. The revolutionary fleet is anchored off Puerto Cabello without coal and some of it partly disabled. The triumph of Guzman is now considered as accomplished.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

Concord, N. H., Dec. 6.

Another complication has arisen in the Concord Railroad controversy. A bill in equity has been brought by O. C. Fisher of [illegible] of Concord, William A. Parker of Boston, bona fide stockholders, alleging that the court may restrain the present board of directors from taking possession of the road as they procured their own election by illegal combinations and acts. Hon. L. D. Stevens filed a brief, to-day, for the plaintiffs in the Supreme Court, asking also that Benj. Adams of Chelmsford be joined stating that under certain circumstances he would ask for a temporary injunction and the appointment of receivers, but not to interfere with the present state of affairs. Col. John H. George asked to be joined also and at the proper time desired to be heard.

Cincinnati, Dec. 6.

It is believed that the project for building a Railroad from this city is an entire failure, and that a road in the interest of the New York Central, from this city to Dayton, will be constructed instead.

FROM WASHINGTON

Washington, Dec. 6.

The Supreme Court to-day decided, Justice Field dissenting, that the proceedings of the Tennessee Courts nullifying the sales of property to satisfy Senator Brownlow's judgment for $25,000 for damages and losses sustained at the outbreak of the rebellion, were void, and that the purchaser of property thus sold held it by good title. The Court also decided that distilleries could be compelled to file bonds to record the number of gallons sold, placed in the warehouse etc, and that Kansas Indians could not sell their lands without official sanction of the Secretary of the Interior.

Commissioner Douglass replies to the appeal of the Manhattan Gas Co., of New York, from the assessment of $20,000 revenue tax on gas sold during October, that the liability of the Mannhattan and all other gas companies in the country, to pay tax on gas manufactured is too plain to admit of any question but he will abide by the decision of the court. The company claims exemption under the revenue act of last Congress.

Minister Motley writes to a friend in this city that he has accepted the Queen of Holland's offer of the free use of an elegant mansion at Hague, to enable him to complete the history of the Netherlands, and will proceed thither immediately on turning over the affairs of Embassy to Secretary of Legation.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

With Fate Against Him. By Amanda M. Douglas. This new novel, by one of our most popular writers, is a gracefully written, well conceived record of the various life trials and disappointments of a high and noble soul in its blind reachings for something higher and grander than fate seemed willing to grant. The whole aim and object of the story is comprised in the line from Carlyle that Miss Douglas has chosen for the motto of her book: "The man is the spirit he worked in, not what he did, but what he became."

Published by Sheldon & Co., New York, and sold by Bugbee.

Coughs and Colds is another of Dr. Hall's works upon the prevention, cause and cure of diseases of the throat and lungs, with cases illustrating the efficacy of out-door exercise and plenty of pure air and sunshine, not only as a preventative of that dread scourge of our New England climate, "Consumption," but as an actual curative in many extreme cases.

OF IOWA,
CONNECTING ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

Now Nearly Completed.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

OF THE

First Mortgage
7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds of the company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of [illegible]0 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A first Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in Bangor by

P. M. BLAKE,

of whom pamphlets and full information may be had.

PIANO FORTES

Put in complete order, tone and tune, without the necessity of sending them to a factory. The subscriber from Boston continues to offer his services to the citizens of Bangor and vicinity in every department of Piano Forte work. Being a practical Piano Forte worker of nearly twenty years experience, and more recently from the manufactory of Messrs. CHICKERING & SONS, of Boston, where he has been employed for more than six years in the Regulating Department, gives him the utmost assurance that he can offer himself fully to the confidence of the Musical Public. Those who may be contemplating sending their Pianos to Boston to be put in order, can have the opportunity to forego that inconvenience and expense, by leaving their orders with Messrs. LOWELL & SPENCER, Music Dealers, No. 14 Main Street, and at E. F. DUREN'S Music Store, Hammond St., can have the same work accomplished without moving them from the house, the renewing of which will render the action susceptible to the most delicate touch, and increase the power, volume, and purity of tone to their original capacity. Together with a style of tuning, which will produce the most desirable results. Warranted to give satisfaction or no pay. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

THE DRUM MAJOR.

The old drum major it is that we see,
Poor fellow he's pulled down sadly!
In th' Emperor's time a youngster was he,
And merrily lived and gladly

He used to balance his ponderous stick,
While a smile on his face played lightly
The silver lace on his tunic so thick,
In the rays of the sun gleam brightly.

Whene'er with a mighty roll of the drum
He entered a village or city
He caused an echo responsive to come
In the heart of each girl plain or pretty

He came and saw and conquer'd too
Each fair one welcomed him in
His black moustache was wetted through
With tears of German women

Resistance was vain In every land
That the foreign invaders came to,
The Emperor vanquish'd the gentlemen and
The drum major each maiden and dame too

Our sorrows full long we patiently bore
Like oaks, with no one to heed 'em
Until the authorities gave us once more
The signal to battle for freedom

Like buffaloes rushing on to the fray
We toss'd our horns up proudly
The yoke of French we cast away
The songs of Korner sang loudly

O terrible verses! the tyrant's ear
At their awful sound revolted
The Emperor and the drum major in fear
[illegible] hastily bolted

They both of them reap'd the wages of sin
And came to an end inglorious
The Emperor Napoleon tumbled in
The hands of the Prussians victorious

The poor drum major too fell in disgrace
And lost his situation,
In our hotel he took the place
Of Boots —what degradation

He warms the oven he scours the pots,
And wood and water fetches,
His grey head wags as he wheezingly trots
Up the stairs so weak the poor wretch is

When Fitz comes to see me he finds himself
Inclined to jeer and rally
The comical lanky poor old elf
And his [illegible] shilly shally

Fritz a truce to raillery please
The sons of Germany never
Should fallen greatness love to tease
Or to torment endeavor

JOHN RANDALL'S TROUBLE

"Will you let me have it John?"

"No Georgy, I can't."

John Randall uttered his refusal of his wife's request very decidedly, as if he felt the request was unreasonable and yet there was an undercurrent of grieved impatience in his voice a look of perplexity and self-dissatisfaction in his eyes. He proceeded very slowly to button his overcoat. He wanted to see his wife rise from the breakfast-table, and thereby signify her acquiescence in his decision before he went off for his morning's work at the mill.

Georgy however did not rise. Her looks did not express acquiescence. She was a pretty woman—very pretty; tall, slight, very fair, with large clear steady eyes and profuse brown hair. Besides her beauty, she had an air of delicate graceful composure rather peculiar, and a voice that suggested [illegible]. For all this, she was simply the wife of the master machinist in the great Halliburton Print Works of Millville and mistress of one of the small white factory tenements whose long orderly rows constituted Millville proper.

But Georgy did not belong to the factory tenement although she had married into it.—She had been brought up by a relative, upon whom she had been left dependent, and whom she called Aunt Appleton. Aunt Appleton lived at the other end of Appleton—the west end—among the Halliburtons, and the Dillaways and Veres.

Perhaps, under the circumstances Georgy might have looked a little higher than John Randall. But then John was good as gold strong, steady, manly, true. Aunt Appleton's pretty dependent protégé had the sense to rejoice at her perception, and Aunt Appleton had the generosity to give her a liberal outfit—her furniture a complete wardrobe a nice wedding.

It had been very agreeable to Georgy to have these things. She was fastidious to the core. She enjoyed advantages of position—her good clothes, her prestige among the wives of the other officials in the Print Works. She was fastidious—perhaps only a little too fastidious for her place.

John Randall had reached his last button and the last shiny button on a somewhat shabby coat. He had neither time nor pretext for lingering. At this last moment his wife raised her eyes clearly, unflinchingly, to his face.

"Why not?" she asked in her cold sweet voice.

It is never pleasant to a man to be called to an account about money—and of course it was money Georgy wanted—by a woman and that woman his wife. John's face flushed a little a hot retort pricked his very tip of his tongue but he did not utter it. He was a patient man naturally, and then he had that deep sure love for his pretty wife which overmatches all slight shocks.

"I have exceeded my salary every month since we were married, Georgy," he said—"The first of January will be here in a few weeks and I shall not be able to meet all the bills that are due. I don't feel that we ought to fritter away a penny of money. I don't believe you do either, dear."

"I shall not say any more about it," she returned. "I ought to wear a new pair of gloves to call on Paul's bride. But if you can't give them to me I must do without them."

John Randall's grain was fine enough to understand that this was not the acquiescence he wanted. He would have liked to indulge her but there was the fact that if he began it he should be always behind hand, always poor.

This was his fact. Georgy had hers also—that she was always to be denied and disappointed. She didn't mind so much wearing the old gloves on this particular occasion, that which troubled her which wedging itself painfully into her conviction, was, that she would have to give up all the little luxuries and elegances that she so much craved that her future was to be a plain, matter of fact routine deprived of those gratifications in whose absence she felt a sort of moral starvation.

"It don't seem as if you ought to be disappointed Georgy," said the husband finally—"You know what my salary is and just how far it will go. We used to talk about saving something every year so that I might better myself one of these days. I don't like to deny you."

"No matter," she answered, rising.

She was one of those women who say too little rather than too much any time.

John went off to his work. Bridget (the girl of all work) came in to clear the table. Georgy dusted the parlor, and made the pudding, fed the canary and then placed her sewing machine in the window facing the dull leaden light of the November day, and sat down to stitch wristbands. She had been married more than a year now, and was making his first shirts for John. She was very thoughtful a dogged pain in her face all the while.

"Perhaps I shall stay at Aunt Appleton's to tea," she said to her husband, at the dinner table. "You will come for me if I do—won't you?"

He reflected a moment.

"I told you last night Georgy, that I should have to be from home an hour or two this evening. There is a meeting of the officials of the mill at half-past seven. I should be too tired to dress and go up to your aunt's afterwards."

"I had forgotten," she said, quietly—so quietly that he thought she did not care.

When he was gone, she went to her room to arrange her toilet for her call. She put on the best she had, of course. She had a genius for dress and despite the mended gloves, she looked as stylish as she did pretty.

Just as she approached her aunt's gate, old Mrs Halliburton, in her velvets and sables, and steeliest of steel-colored silks was being handed from her carriage by her son. The Halliburtons were the owners of the mill in which John Randall was employed. Stephen, the only son had just returned from a five years' residence abroad. These two facts caused Georgy to scrutinize the mother and son somewhat closely, and, doing so, Stephen Haliburton raised his hat to her.

"A pretty face," he remarked, carelessly, to his mother. "I suppose it is some one I have known or should know."

Old Mrs. Halliburton, with her keen eyes and beak nose glanced sharply back towards Georgy, whom she had not perceived, and nodded slightly.

"It is that young person whom Jane Appleton brought up. She is married now to one of our men, I believe."

Georgy found Paul Appleton and his bride holding a sort of informal reception. The rooms where her own wedding had been a year before—were quite filled with guests. A very dainty and graceful bride was the new Mrs. Paul, in her lavender train and point-lace shawl. Georgy tried to feel the least thing of envy, as she looked at her.

Aunt Appleton had always a sense of gratitude towards her protégé, for having forborne to fascinate either of her own, four marriageable boys; and this gratitude cropped out in active kindliness under the exultation she felt over Paul's match.

Georgy moved easily about the well-furnished rooms. Somehow she seemed not fitted for such surroundings. The state and well-bred manners, the [illegible] refined faces and rich dresses, were like a stimulant to her. She needed such a quickening to be fully herself. Her composed, delicate beauty unfolded to perfection in this atmosphere.

She had been talking with one and another, talking in shapes and trimmings, with her quick, artist's eye, and, in a pause, was just reflecting upon the hang of the new curtains, when a voice said, near her,—"I seem not to be able to recall you at all, Mrs Randall. Yet I must have known you before I went away. My mother has just told me your name, and I have come to claim acquaintance, if you will permit me."

"I remember you, perfectly, Mr Halliburton," Georgy returned, quietly. "I was hardly grown up when you left us, five years ago."

"Five years? Ah, true enough! Won't you take this chair? What a lovely lily! Why, it is not real?"

"No these wax flowers are very like nature, though almost a plagiarism, don't you think so Mr Haliburton?"

"Why, yes. It must be quite difficult to make them. I dare say they bring a good price."

Under her serene smile, a quick thought went through Georgy Randall's mind. She began to examine the gentleman before her with interest.

Stephen Haliburton was a gentleman by habit, and a man of the world by force of circumstances. But nature intended him for a diligent painstaking, persevering man of business.

If he was not a great or a very good man, it was because he had so much time, so much money so much flattery. He was spoiled by his opportunities, yet he need only the right touch to elevate him beyond himself. He was thirty years old now, he was past the age when man disdains to be led by a woman. But Stephen Haliburton had never disdained it. He had always been led—by the keen eyed beak nosed woman in the steel silk, who, as Georgy talked with the heir, sat holding her wine up to the fire-light, not far off.

The heir seemed to like Mrs Randall's talk, perhaps because there was so little of it. In return he was rather unreserved—gossiping about his plans and his prospects.

He said that he was glad to get home. He meant to settle down at Millville now, look after his factories and the operatives, introduce some improvements. He wanted a better class of work, more tasteful designs. He hadn't a pretty print from the factory. Did not Mrs Randall agree with him?

Yes she agreed with him. It was a strange basis for parlor gossip—oils, chemicals, designs for calicoes. He was surprised to find how much she knew about it and she—she was a little surprised herself. The delicate pink began to flush her cheeks, the irises of her eyes grew into great black flakes, full of lustre. All at once, at last, she turned a casual glance without the window.

"Why," she said with a slight start. "It is almost dark. And I believe it is raining. I must go at once."

She stepped towards the window. Great plashing drops were falling upon the flag stones. The dull November daylight was almost gone.

Mr Haliburton rose also.

"Did you walk?" he inquired. "Let us take you home. My mother will be going soon."

The little stir attracted Mrs Appleton, who—most of the guests having gone—was devoting herself to Mrs Haliburton.

"Stay to tea, Georgy," she suggested. "John knows you are here—does he not?"

"Yes, but it is raining. I think I had better not stop."

"I have been asking Mrs. Randall to take a seat with us mother," interposed Stephen Haliburton.

"Ah yes," said that lady, with contracted nostrils and prolonged lip again. "I shall be happy."

And then the keen eyes overlooked Georgy, as if to ask if there were any cause why the Haliburton horses and, it might be, the Haliburton heir should traverse the length of Millville to take home this young person who had married one of the Haliburton's employés.

Georgy stood unmoved, a little concerned as to whether her last dress and bonnet should walk or ride, not at all concerned as to her own disposal.

The factory bell had done ringing, and John Randall was in sight of home just as the carriage of his employer stopped at his door, and his wife stepped from it. He did not however overhear her say to Stephen Haliburton, "If you will come in to-morrow afternoon I will show you what I mean."

The established character of this road running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa together with its present and prospective condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these Bonds to investors as in every respect an undoubted security. "HIGHLY CONCENTRATED" COMPOUND

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

A positive and Specific Remedy for diseases of the

Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel and Dropsical Swellings

This Medicine increases the powers of digestion, and excites the absorbents into healthy action by which the matter of calcareous depositions, and all unnatural enlargements are reduced, as well as pain and inflammation, and is good for men women and children

H

H. T. Helmbold's Extract Buchu,

For weakness arising from Excesses Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion, attended with the following Symptoms

Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power,
Loss of Memory,
Weak Nerves,
Horror of Disease
Dimness of Vision
Hot Hands,
Dryness of the Skin
Universal Lassitude
Difficulty of Breathing
Trembling
Wakefulness
Pain in the Back
Flushing of the Body
Eruptions of the face,
Pallid Countenance
of the Muscular System

These symptoms if allowed to go on (which this Medicine invariably removes) soon follow—

FATUITY, EPILEPTIC FITS &c

In one of which the patient may expire. Who can say they are not frequently followed by those direful diseases.

INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION?

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering but none will confess. The records of the insane asylums and the melancholy deaths by consumption bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion

The Constitution once affected by organic weakness requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system which H T HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU invariably does. A trial will convince the most sceptical

E

In many affections peculiar to Females the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequaled by any other remedy and for all complaints incident to the sex [illegible]

FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA,

for purifying the Blood, removing all chronic constitutional diseases arising from an impure state of the Blood and the only reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Scrofula, Scald Head Salt Rheum Pains and Swellings of the Bones Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Tetter Erysipelas and all scaly Eruptions of the Skin

AND BEAUTIFYING THE COMPLEXION

NOT A FEW

of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the Blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out none can equal in effect HELMBOLD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the Blood instills the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the blood. Such a remedy that could be relied on has long been sought and now the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit of certificates to show its effects but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has its virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken

Two tablespoonfuls of the Extract of Sarsaparilla added to a pint of water is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is fully equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla or the decoction as usually made

O

H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash,

An excellent Lotion for diseases arising from habits of dissipation used in connection with the Extracts Buchu and Sarsaparilla in such diseases as recommended. Evidence of the most responsible and reliable character will accompany the medicines. Also explicit directions for use, with hundreds of thousands living witnesses, and upwards of 30 000 unsolicited certificates and recommendatory letters many of which are from the highest sources, including eminent Physicians Clergymen Statesmen, &c. The Proprietor has never resorted to their publication in the newspapers he does not do this from the fact that his articles rank as standard Preparations and do not need to be propped up by certificates

The Science of Medicine like the Doric Column should stand simple, pure majestic, having fact for its basis, Induction for its pillar, and Truth alone for its Capital

L

My Extract Sarsaparilla is a Blood Purifier, my Extract Buchu is a Diuretic and will act as such in all cases

Both are prepared on purely scientific principles—in vacuo—and are the most active measures of either that can be made. A ready and conclusive test will be a comparison of their properties with those set forth in the following works
